

o is still alive. Jon-o starts to appear less and less because he wants Wally to learn how to handle things on his own, and learn to cope.

Wally's goal is to be like Jon-o. Jon-o was a great skateboarder. Wally tries to take up this sport. When Jon-o's best friend Nick Wally's biggest problem is trying to live up to Jon-o's reputation. Most people think that Jon-o is a hero and Wally does, too. When Jon-o does not appear to Wally as much as he would like, Wally gets worried. Wally thinks that by being in the skate boarding competition and jump-

Ghostbrother is a fantastic book on loss of a brother and acceptance that he is really gone. This book brought my attention to how Wally is trying to cope with losing his brother. I feel this book is superb reading. I would recommend it to any one.

The Brain and E.S.P.

By Michael Tankhilevich, Staff Reporter, Cohen Hillel Academy, Marblehead

Most people only use 10% of their brain for their entire life. Some people theorize that if you could use 100% of your brain you could live for 1,000 years.

Some claim that if people could use 100% of their brain they might have powers like magicians in fairy tales. It is believed that almost all people could use 100% of their brain if they knew how.

The human brain weighs about three pounds and is pinkish-gray in color. Paul Kroll, a reporter from Plain Truth, states that "the mind has a limited amount of energy — a power of awareness — an ability to use the brain and move the body."

A scientist named Farnaldo Noheboham who is studying canaries says that their brains grow new nerve cells when they are injured.

Some scientists are trying to find a way to make people grow new nerve cells and be much more smart and powerful.

Dr. J.B. Rhine discovered E.S.P. which uses physical energy by converting it into psychic energy.

Some of the E.S.P. powers are: precognition (knowing the future), recognition (knowing the past), telepathy (having mind to mind communications), clairvoyance (seeing things that normal people can't see and knowing what a person is thinking of), clairaudience (hearing something a normal person can't hear), psychokinesis or PK (making objects move from one place to another), materialization (making an object appear from nowhere), levitation (an ability to raise a body), and astral projection or out of body experience (2 sides of a body both feeling real things in the same time).

E.S.P. means Extra Sensory Perception and describes a power that doesn't use sight, sound, taste, touch or smell. It is in a person's mind.

Different sides of the brain control different skills and abilities. For example, the left side of the brain controls logic, language, writing, reason, and linear analysis. The right side of the brain controls rhythm, vision, creativity, synthesis, and parallel processing.

A man named Oleg Fisher in New York has a lot of psychic powers. He can drive a car without looking; he can put something into someone's mind; he can read people's minds and much more. He said that when he was little and went to school, he "made" his teacher not give homework and she even forgot what she was going to say. Now Oleg doesn't do bad things, he's trying to really help people.

If you want to know if you have E.S.P. powers, read the book, E.S.P. by Michael Arvey. There are tests to take in the back of the book.
